

Quality Policy

Mango Solutions aims to help companies provide end to end complex analysis solutions. We accomplish this through providing software development, systems development, consulting, training and support services in a pragmatic and straightforward manner. We work with organisations large and small and appreciate that each department in each company can have unique requirements which require special expertise.

Our reputation is vital to us and this ensures that Mango provides our customers with the best possible service from initial enquiry through to final delivery and support throughout the delivery lifecycle.

This is achieved through maintaining and continually improving a documented Quality Management System which complies with the requirements of ISO 9001:2008. The quality policy is communicated and understood by all staff. A hard copy is available.

The quality policy and quality objectives are established and reviewed in the context of continual improvement on a regular basis by the Directors through Management Review meetings.

Matthew Aldridge

Matthew Aldridge
Managing Director